The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING AUGUST 24 1876

THE NORTH

Two reports on the condition of affairs in the South were presented to the Senate before the adjournment—one the majority report of the Mississippi investigating committee the other the minority report of the same committee Mr Boutwell found a fearful condition of things existing in the South, and Mr Bayard on the contrary found nothing to complain of Both these gentlemen are men of experience, ability and integrity they heard the same witnesses testify they visited the same localities and yet the conclusions they arrived at are as widely different as it is possible to conceive This astonishing fact can be explained only upon the supposition that each gentleman accepted for true only that part of the evidence laid before them as tended to sustain a preconceived opinion, and rejected all the rest as unworthy of belief in other words, each one took a partisan view of the case and saw and reported according ly Hence, the report of neither is satisfactory

The condition of things at the south is neither so bad as Mr Boutwell has painted it, nor so faultless as Mr Bayard would have us believe The truth lies between Excesses have been committed on both sides and neither is without blame It is not in the nature of things for it to be otherwise. The enfranchising of a whole mass of men who had never been taught anything whatever—who were in a state of absolute ignorance, not only of politics, but of everything else, gave an opportunity for bad advisers to use them for their own selfish ends And so they did

On the other hand many of the Southern people were without political privileges they could not vote or hold office, and sore in spirit and disheartened by what they did look at first have either the desire or the ability to take part in public affairs So, necessarily, the political control of the States passed into the hands of the blacks, or of those whom they supported It is easy to comprehend how distasteful and irksome this was to the white people of the State, masters of a large majority of the intelligent party. It was with the greatest reluctance and difficulty that they could bring themselves to accept the situation even partially. As time passed on and they were reinvested with their ancient political rights, they were unwilling to try to win the trust, confidence and support of the negro voters, but sought to control them and force them to subordinate themselves to the whites. This the negroes refused to do They asserted their political equality and insisted that it should be recognized in the distribution of offices and political favors.

Out of this unquestionably arose and some of the outrages were bitter and bloody. In some cases the blacks were blameable and in others the whites. The true cause of the action of them lay in the unwillingness of the whites to accept the results of the war and disguise the political status of the blacks, and in the jealousy and dislike of the blacks.

It is difficult to see what can be done to bring about a better state of feeling between the two races Possibly, only Time can effect it. At least nothing but harm can result from taking one-sided views of the situation and refusing to listen to what may be reasonable to hear.

FAST WALKING HORSES.

A noble racehorse is one of the most beautiful and splendid of living creatures. The shapely step his flashing eye, and the grace and beauty of his form make him attractive even to those who are unable to appreciate the excellence of his points. The well-bred trotter, capable of speeding below 2.20," is also a superb animal But horses are for the rich—they are luxuries reserved for the few and denied to the many. The animal which most men own is one whose life is laborious and whose days are expended in drawing the plough or wagon Great speed in running or trotting contributes nothing to his value as a worker, for most of the labor he is called upon to perform is done in a walk But to be a quick, active walk is immense to his usefulness. A quick walk is the most desirable gait a farmer's horse can possess Hence, the breeding of fast walkers should be encouraged by offering prizes for fast walking stallions at every county and State fair. A difference in the speed of two pairs of plough horses of only a half a mile an hour makes a difference of almost two-fifths of an acre a day in the work done, and the work will be done better. It will also make a difference of from four to five miles a day in the distance a team will travel in hauling grain to market. And in having time a quick, lively team will enable a farmer to house his crop and save it from rain, and a slower team would leave part of it out to be ruined In running machinery for threshing a fast walker is invaluable, as the machine will do more and better work when propelled by a lively team than when the motive power is supplied by a set of sleepy animals that scarcely seem to move. The State Fair is now approaching and we think the managers could do nothing better than to offer a good premium for the fastest walking draught stallion

The Republican convention of New York has nominated ex Governor E D Morgan for Governor of that State His most prominent competitor was Wm M Evarts Before the convention met Mr A B Cornell was a strong candidate for the nomination but he retired from the contest and his name was not presented Governor Morgan was governor of New York from 1859 to 1863 His administration was conspicuous for a decrease of the State debt an increase of the revenue from the canals and a frequent use of the veto power He zealously supported the government during the war and such was his efficiency in raising and equipping troops that the State sent above 200 000 men to the field He was a member of the United States Senate from 1865 to 1875 Governor Morgan was offered the Secretaryship of the Treasury by Mr Lincoln but declined He is about sixty five years of age

The contest between the Madeleine and the Countess of Dufferin for the Cup term ated in a victory for the Madeleine Three races were to be sailed and the winner of two was to be the victor The Madeleine won the first two races, beating the Countess ten minutes in the first race, and twenty seven minutes in the second The old America sailed as an outsider in the second race and beat the Countess nineteen minutes The America beat the Madeleine going to windward but the latter yacht on the home stretch going before the wind gained eight minutes on the America It must be remembered, however that the America was not in racing trim while the other two were

The news from the Black Hills region indicate that the campaign against the Sioux is being vigorously pushed Another rumor of a battle between Sitting Bull and the combined forces of Crook and Terry is in circulation but like the former one it lacks confirmation It is to be hoped that our army will be able to come up with Sitting Bull's forces and end the campaign with a decisive victory If it were possible to reduce the hostiles without bloodshed it would be infinitely preferable but that is out of the question

The New York Tribune compares wages in 1870 and 1870 for sixty trades and reckons the decrease at from ten to twenty per cent while the reduction in rent and the necessaries of life has been more than that It concludes therefore that there has been an actual increase in absolute wages—that is that the same amount of work will buy more of the necessaries of life now than in 1870 73

The remarkable difference in the financial condition of France and Prussia is illustrated by the fact that a loan of 55 000,000 francs put on the market by the French was subscribed for seventy five times over—while a loan of like amount put on the market by the Prussian government utterly failed—only one quarter being subscribed for

Senator Maxey of Texas, talks about the Hamburg affair very much as Lamar did If prisoners were murdered he said in his latest speech to the Senate It was a dastardly and cowardly act, and I have no words at my command sufficiently strong to denounce such a crime

The Liberals of New York have formally pledged themselves to support Hayes and Wheeler. They number about 40,000 voters—a sufficient number to secure that State for the Republican candidates.

OREGON STATE FAIR

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Please announce in the columns of your valuable paper that Dr W L Adams has kindly consented to deliver the Annual Address at the approaching State Fair, commencing October 9th Doctor Adams is a thorough practical farmer as well as physician, and a rare treat may be expected, as the Doctor's experience and acquaintance with all the material interests of Oregon for nearly thirty years past, guarantee that his address will be up to the Centennial occasion

W P WATSON, Pres't

Ed papers please copy.

The chief matter of disagreement between the Register and Receiver in their finding in the matter of the contested land adjoining Seattle, was that the latter held that the town gained a vested right in the vacant land in the two sections in which Seattle is situated by reason of the act of Congress regarding townsites, and that this right would operate to exclude the N P R R Co, holders of Valentine scrip, and others from gaining any rights to such land From this decision the Register dissented and the case will go to Washington for final adjudication In the course of time says the Echo, the case will undoubtedly come before the courts of the Territory and may perhaps be finally settled about the time of our next Centennial

It is stated that an infusion of the fresh leaves of the tomato vine sprinkled on roses and other plants will drive away the insects that infest them It is a simple remedy and worth trying —Springfield Republican.

THE SALMON TRADE —Under the heading of Shipping for the Salmon Trade the San Francisco exchange says Early in the year their calculations upon the past season's operations of Columbia river salmon for forwarding delivery were made by the canning interests in Oregon to increase the amount of pack put up and all hands entered upon the season with enlarged ideas about the size of the pack The run however was late and disappointing that at least 100 000 cases have thus far been put up our merchants are still in arrears for the deliveries The receipts from Oregon to date amount to 207 636 cs and those who sold large quantities for August delivery are uneasy about the situation Correspondents in New York are expressing anxiety as the following from a leading house of that city will show Accordance with the best information the Oregon salmon pack will fall short of 400 000 cases Deliveries from this amount the unusually large exportations thus far and prospective demand should leave a very light supply for carry over As a decline is now reported in the Portland markets however which will be likely to turn some of the present stock hold on the Pacific coast for export and much of the Columbia river canning this way This raises a question which the trade are disposed to take a hopeful view though most of the receivers still maintain confident that $1 85 the highest prices for the current here in first hands need not be looked for from There is no stock here at present and orders are taken freely by the packers at the inside figure of some of the packers at the inside figure $1 75 to arrive. Later authentic reports from the other coast are awaited with much interest The trade this year has run chiefly to 1 lb cans, four dozen to the case and the demand for the larger sizes has been very small in consequence."

ABOUT MOLLALA MINES —A correspondent writing from Woodburn yesterday says "This place being the headquarters of the Mollala mines, and as there are parties here daily coming from here almost every day to purchase supplies to keep your readers posted from time to time in regard to this matter I informed you in my last letter that on the day before a party had arrived here from that region with specimens of rock of unknown specimens After assaying as much as could be made under the circumstances, by myself and others the rock was arrived at that it is a pretty rich ledge, mixed with a certain proportion of native silver and also quicksilver This has created great excitement, and the following morning a company of five, viz Mr. Sour Crout, on a flying pair of crutches, left for the new Washo well supplied with notices to stake out their claims Mr. Hedges, who was one of the party, returned here last Sunday in a thoroughly used up condition. Under the excitement of the previsions gave out before he noticed that he had to make his way home without even so much as to get but a plug of tobacco As he was then in the mountains, he walked all the way home. He complained of being very much used up his face showed all the marks of the hardships and sufferings he claimed to have undergone. He also brought some specimens of the rock formation that were brought before the company to be taken to Portland to be assayed. There will be a stock exchange established there soon, but as the parties are all of the best class, if the assay proves anything favorable, some of the leading merchants of Portland will be called upon to invest in stock. Mr. Hedges left our Dutchman was left behind. He says that as soon as he can get away he will leave for "Shermaney" and then for some other poor devils."

FROM THE STATE.—A correspondent of the San Francisco Call, writing from Philadelphia under date of the 5th inst., has this to say concerning our State: "By appointment of the Governor of Oregon, Mr. Henry H. Gilfry delivered the fourth lecture in the course of ——— yesterday in the Pacific Coast Hall. There was a fair audience assembled. The subject of his lecture was 'Oregon, the Youngest of the Union, the Thirty-third Star in the Federation of States,' was eloquently treated in its geographical, topographical and other features He claimed that its wonderful variety of landscape, combinations of prairies, mountains, valleys, rivers and lakes made it one of the most romantic spots on the globe, while its matchless climate, pure water and life-giving breezes from the Pacific, made it one of the most desirable places for emigrants. In 1832 the first mail was opened, in 1838 the first settler arrived, and in 1846, at Oregon City, the Oregon Free Trader was published semi-monthly. In March, 1848, the Oregon Free Trader was issued daily on the western side of the continent, beside its appearance There are now seven dailies, thirty-eight weeklies, and several monthly publications.

TARGET PRACTICE —PRIZES —Tuesday afternoon the annual target practice of the City Rifles took place at their range near Cornelius, Washington county. The following are the distribution of the prizes, a list of which was published a few days ago First prize, a handsome medal, awarded to Second Sergeant Fuller; second, an album, awarded to D. Gee; third, otter skin cap, awarded to Corporal Wilson; fourth, an album, awarded to Private Wade; fifth, pair of slippers, awarded to Private Hitt; sixth, order for ½ dozen cabinet photographs, awarded Wm McGuire, seventh, gold pencil case, awarded J Rhone, eighth, gold collar buttons and shirt studs, awarded Private Reeves. McCormick; second, cardigan jacket, awarded First Lieutenant C Young; third gold sleeve buttons, awarded Second Lieutenant J Brice, the latter succeeding in the possession of the prize after it had been distributed among those members of the company who had not received any, so that all had received some article. The leather medal, awarded Musician J J Kearney

ARMY ORDERS —The regimental headquarters and band of the 1st Cavalry is ordered to Fort Walla Walla, from Benicia, as soon as the colonel of the regiment (Carvier Grover) joins from leave of absence. About Nov. 1st, proximo The Adjutant, Boutelle, and Quartermaster, Bristol, with the band, and records, will leave in advance, about October 1st Grover is a brother of Gov Grover, of Oregon, and is a very fine officer The promotions this fall, under existing laws, will be a loss of Col Otis 9th Infantry, to his regiment, Lieut Upham retiring from service East and Col Stone, post quartermaster, not yet ordered, relieved by Major ——— regimental quartermaster, 1st Infantry, and a gain of Gen Grover Capt Company E, and Lieut. Boutelle and Capt ——— all of 1st Cavalry

ACCIDENT —Last Saturday just as the Tacoma bound train reached Napavine station, Woody Sprague, a brakeman on the train, and son of Gen J W Sprague, met with a serious accident. He was climbing up the side of a box car when his foot slipped and he was thrown to the ground with great force, breaking his arm and otherwise injuring him. No one on board saw him fall and the train sped on passing three stations before he was missed Gen Sprague who was on board, ordered the train backed to Newaukum station where the cars were run on to a side track and the engine detached and sent back to look for him They soon met a hand car bringing news that he had been picked up and carried to the nearest house by some section men who saw him fall Medical attendance was summoned and the patient is now in a fair way of recovery

LAUNCH OF THE CUTTER.

The announcement made in yesterday's paper that the new government revenue cutter would be launched from the ways at Albina at 12 o'clock sharp had the effect to draw a large number of our citizens to the place where the vessel was to take her initiatory plunge into her native element from where she lay on the stocks—a short distance north of the Oregon Iron Works As it was announced that the launch would take place precisely at high noon "every one was anxious to be there on time and consequently as early as 11 o'clock carriages began pouring in the direction of Albina all bound for the same destination Capt Douglass swift little ferry boat made trips from landing to landing every few minutes carrying over hundreds of eager spectators each time This ride on the river continued to pour over until after the cutter was launched Promptly at the hour designated every preparation was complete and all that was necessary was to sever the ropes which held the cradle to the ways However as the crowd is continued to come it was decided to wait a few minutes in order to afford all an opportunity to witness the launch. About 10 minutes past 12 the axemen took their positions and at the signal the ropes were severed in a trice and the beautiful vessel having on board a number of persons moved down the steep incline toward the water Each succeeding instant as the model passed along the lubricated ways the speed was accelerated, and before making the final plunge she was moving like a shot With a splash and a plunge the vessel took her initial bath when a prolonged shout was sent up from hundreds of spectators who lined the banks which was answered by those on board It was a beautiful spectacle to see the new craft glide gracefully from the ways and rush madly into the embrace of the water and one which will long be remembered by the many spectators After reaching the water the cutter was driven by the impetus more than half way across the river The steamer Vancouver was lying near at hand at the time of the launch, and fastening on to the cutter towed her along side the Oregon Iron Works' wharf where she was moored Mrs Russell wife of the contractor, Edwin Russell Esq was on board and when the cutter began moving slowly down, that handsome little lady did the customary honors—breaking the bottle of champagne over the bow However, she was deprived of the satisfaction of christening the first government vessel ever constructed in the State. Being a government vessel the right to name her was reserved to the Secretary of the Treasury Several days ago Mr Russell telegraphed to the Treasury Department at Washington asking that a name for the new cutter be forwarded but for some reason there was no response and as the launching could not be delayed, she remains nameless for the present A name will no doubt be forwarded by telegraph in a few days A more successful launch has never taken place in the State, and the contractor, and those superintending the work of construction, deserve much credit for the completeness of every arrangement without which the launch could not have been pronounced an "unqualified success" Considerable work remains to be done to the interior of the vessel, finishing the cabin, rigging etc She will probably not be ready to make the trial trip before a month or six weeks

CUSTER AND KEOGH

Custer was buried among his officers and many crowded for a long last look at the well known form and features of the great cavalry leader He seemed only sleeping, and a perfect calm was on his face and a smile on his lips as if he were bidding his friends a pleasant good-bye All the officers' graves were marked by hollow sticks, sunk deep in the ground, containing the names of the dead. It was known the Indians would remove any surface marks placed over the graves but it is not believed they will disturb the bodies and they can easily be identified by the sticks at any time friends may wish to remove them Last The Indian dead were not disturbed and it is not at all likely they will molest our dead as they are very superstitious about such things and take great care of the dead

It appears Captain Miles W Keogh seventh cavalry had a presentiment of his approaching death Just before the expedition started he came to an officer who had once been a lawyer, and asked him if he could draw up a will in proper form, and on the officer answering in the affirmative Captain Keogh said

"I don't know what may happen to me and as I have not disposed of some things I have I want to make a will" The will was drawn up signed by Keogh, witnessed and sealed up in an envelope It was then handed by Keogh to the officer who had drawn it up and the Captain said "If anything should befall me open the envelope and send the papers to my sister" Captain Keogh owned a fine property in the north of Ireland and had $10 000 insurance on his life He was unmarried but leaves a brother and sister in this country and one brother in Ireland Keogh was a fine soldier and one of the handsomest men in the army

THE EMPRESS LOSING HER BEAUTY —A correspondent who lately saw the Empress Eugenie says she has broken sadly in the last year or two and has lost nearly every vestige of her beauty She has grown very stout, dyes her hair and covers her face with powder while the slight lameness which she used to dissimulate so skillfully has become very apparent in her gait Her stately bearing and the noble carriage of her head and shoulders are still very remarkable She looks like one accustomed to wear a crown It is a significant fact that all the photographs of her now offered for sale in the Parisian shops were taken two or three years ago, so apparently that she has not cared to sit for any later ones

Liberate the Impurities of the System.

This can easily be done through the instrumentality of the searching blood depurent and alterative Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which incites those scavengers of the body the kidneys and the bowels to vigorous action The first named organs secrete impurities—whose such exist—from the blood which would otherwise poison it and it is the office of the bowels to carry off the useless portions of the food rejected during the process of digestion and which if retained interfere with digestion and bilious secretion Rheumatism and gout both products of acid elements in the circulation are remedied by the Bitters which will likewise befound a prompt though gentle cathartic Both kidneys and bowels are invigorated as well as stimulated by this famous medicine, which possesses tonic properties of the highest order

EXTREME HEAT BRINGS WEAKNESS and sudden changes in the temperature of the atmosphere are fruitful sources of severe Colds from which many cases of inflammation of the Lungs Pleurisy Asthma and other Pulmonary Affections are developed Should acute inflammation ensue in contract a Cold resort at once to Dr Jayne's Expectorant a remedy that will not only promptly cure Coughs and Colds but will relieve and save from the Pulmonary and Bronchial organs and relieve all danger as symptoms

A letter to the Mercury from Pine Grove on the military wagon road Lane county dated Aug 1 states that frost occurred there the night before Also that two soldiers going there names as Sergeant Catlin and Private Little stayed there the night of the 16th starting that a short time before two soldiers at Fort Klamath had killed the paymaster's clerk and robbed him of $5 000 and that the fellows were in pursuit of the murderers As their statements conflicted the suspicion was entertained by the writer that they were varmints and that they were themselves the deserters from the Fort They came on towards the valley from there

County Clerk I H Sharon has published his annual exhibit of the financial condition of Umatilla county, from which it appears that the total assessment for 1875 as reduced by the Board of Equalization was $948 908 The total tax levy was $24 824 06 of which the county received $11 279 11 the State $6 165 30 the school fund $2 845 52 the balance going to various special uses The expenditures from July 1d 1875 to July 3d 1876 were $11 466 50 The debt of the county was reduced $1 258 81 The county debt now amounts to $24 776 97 The delinquent tax list runs back to 1872 and amounts to $2 971 05 The office of sheriff must be a good thing as from the exhibit it appears he was allowed $2,667 56 for services from the county funds

BRITISH COLUMBIA

The bark Charlotte Clarke has sailed from Burrard Inlet for Valparaiso with a cargo of lumber

An Indian and his squaw, both drunk were drowned in Victoria harbor one day last week by the upsetting of their canoe

The Indians made a big part of the show in the Dufferin reception at Victoria They were presented by the governor general with 1 000 pounds of beef

On Sunday last a man belonging to the bark Pacific Nope now loading lumber at Moody Nelson & Co's mill whilst crossing the Inlet fell into the water and was drowned.

The Dufferin party will be at New Westminster to witness a grand gathering of Indian tribes on Friday of this week The party will remain in British Columbia a full month

The latest semi official information from Ottawa would seem to indicate the adoption by Order in Council of the Central or Bute Inlet route for the Canadian Pacific Railway at an early date Should this information prove correct the construction of the island railway would become a necessity.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY FOR THE RELIEF OF THE AFFLICTED.

The Surgeons of the National Surgical Institute, located in Indianapolis Pacific Division Alhambra Building, Bush street, San Francisco, have yielded to the many urgent appeals from their patrons and friends in Oregon and Washington Territory and adjoining regions, to revisit Portland The former visit was highly satisfactory and encouraging, many of the patients then accepted for treatment being now entirely cured, while nearly all are greatly benefited and in a fair way of recovery Three or more of the Surgeons will be at the Cosmopolitan Hotel in Portland Oregon from Monday, the 28th day of August, until Saturday the 2d September, 1876 six days inclusive

They will have with them a great amount of surgical apparatus, appliances, etc, and competent assistants and workmen to change, fit and make such apparatus as may be required They will come especially prepared to treat all surgical cases Paralysis all kinds of Deformities of the Face, Spine and Limbs, Diseased Joints Diseased Eyes, Catarrh Private Diseases, Piles, Fistula, etc. All who wish to avail themselves of the advantages of the Institute, without the long journey to San Francisco or Indianapolis, should do so at this time No cases will be taken without a fair hope of relief It is needless to say that the institution is entirely responsible, and the largest and most popular of the kind in America, curing thousands annually Remember the time and place, and come early Send to the Institute for circular

A CENTENNIAL ODE.

Frank Cowan contributes to the Times the following Centennial Ode from a Western poet in the City of Brotherly Love, July 4 1876 on his way to the station house

I

I say, damn this clatter!—
That's what's the matter (hic)
With Hannah!
'Nough to make a man cuss—
This (hic) confounded fuss'
This (hic) ridiculous muss!—
Gettin' (hic) wuss and wuss!
Shoutin'!
Spoutin'!
Singin' in—anal!
Wavin' your chin with a flag (hic) of bandanna'
Shoot the whole caboodle—
The American eagle—the Fourth of July—
The Little Hatchet that couldn't lie—
John Hancock and (hic) Yankee Doodle'—
Shoot the whole Centennial biz (hic)
From the Big that was to the Little that is'

II

Bombs bustin' in air!—
I wish I was deaf!—
Rockets red glare!—
Or blind, I'd as lief!—
Ain't this sulphurous smell
Would stifle all (hic)—Well,
Even the beer!
I'm confoundedly queer!
Ain't a man cannot touch,
But he's all over ouch!—
A man has no nerves,
But it's outraged outright!—
Stop it (hic) a suggestion—No cents'
Ne'er a red!
Broke, dead!
I'll 'ed higher 'nd a kite!
Go out for that Kingdom Come
Where the Ragged Lady's eye-teeth are cut (hic)
Chewin' gum!

III

And what for?
O lor'! (hic)
Give us room!
The American Century Plant's in full bloom!

IV.

The American Century Plant!
I'd like to meet it!—
I've seen the Centennial elephant—
I wonder if he (hic) could have cat it?

V.

What is it?—There's room for conjecture!
What's it?—That's food for a lecture!
Is it Hawkins (hic) for independence pie—
An' end'
All potatoes for equality?
Or Hancock (hic) for gas?
Or a case
Of bottle beer
Or a squash?
Or a—(hic) dead beat?
I like to see'—
That 'ere centenary plant (hic),
Or rather—
Now, let's leave if you please, (hic),
Centennial!

VI

Wipe your vest—(hic)
Go West
Or take a rest!—
Or Centennial Sam
Or—(hic) Centennial cuss!
Or the b—
Or—
Or—(hic) blunderbuss!—

Parsons Nervous Balm —When they find their bathing houses in very full of navy blues trimmed with white, with golden tresses of hair flowing in the breeze far below her waist, he, for such a timid brother; and evidently, if [illegible] relation, yet of the fra- [illegible] when they thus appeared, spoke [illegible] in dry, [illegible] which fitted loosely and [illegible] I said to myself, "Now for a mess [illegible]." A CHILD OF SHADOWS

[From the Detroit Free Press]

Months ago a Detroiter was sent to the House of Correction for habitual drunkenness. The wife, a hard working woman and sorely afflicted in health managed to provide food and fuel for herself and child until the other day when death came to end the struggle The little girl hardly eight years old was all alone in the house when her mother died The event occurred at dark and at midnight the child was heard singing in the darkness A pedestrian who halted heard her say

'Mother wont you wake up and light the lamp' If you will I will sing, some more

Suspecting what had happened he roused some of the neighbors and as they went in the child sat in the darkness holding its mother's cold hand and singing

The Lord will lead a little child
And teach me how to pray

A dark room death on the bed poverty hunger and cold to make her situation more desolate, and yet the child of shadows was not afraid She said

'I kept still a long while to let mother sleep. Then I sang all my songs to keep me awake. Then I looked out of the window and didn't move, so that the angels wouldn't be afraid to come and talk to her and make her smile! I wish God had made more daylight for poor folks'"

The ordinary course of transactions is not seen in financial circles with at any especial features Applicants for monetary accommodations who prefer favorable collaterals are met with readiness by the banks and a large sum in the aggregate is off ring, by outside parties but though a very considerable amount of capital has been idle in this market for several months past the holders are generally united on the question of maintaining rates and no reduction has been practicable The per cent charged on short loans is but little higher than the quotations found in our exchanges of the Eastern markets but the 1. per cent and commissions demanded on yearly favors on real estate security all admit are high considering the condition of other branches of business in this country and distributing opportunities for profitable investment of capital secured upon such terms Were money obtainable at the rate of say 8 per cent per annum the business enterprise of the country would be stimulated and an era of prosperity and progress be brought about but when the capital necessary to engage in it costs a man 1o per cent and the business only promises a return of 10 the discouragement which the operation works can be easily seen

The demand on the local money market so far this week has not perceptibly increased though there is a very considerable movement looking toward placing the grain crop near tide water The movement however has not been requiring much outlay except for inland freights as but few purchases are being made and no extensive arrangements perfected for shipments abroad The banks hold a fair supply of funds and outside parties stand ready we are informed to aid the market when the necessity arises in the progress of the wheat trade for help

That there is a prospect of a revival of commercial activity is seen by the following extract from that leading journal in the business world the Philadelphia North American of Aug 12. That paper says

In New York the events of the past week in financial circles were important in several particulars, and taken altogether, more activity prevailed than of late. There was very little change in the monetary situation At times call loans showed a slight hardening tendency and three per cent. was paid by the brokers, but on the other hand there were intervals when only one per cent was the rate The fair price for money during the week has been about two per cent at this figure good borrowers could find accommodations. In the discount market prime business notes have fallen to 8@9 per cent. and at those low rates the supply of paper has not been equal to the demand One of the most welcome signs of the week has been the perceptible increase in the demand for money at bank for mercantile purposes, and this to this demand that the expansion in the bank loans this week is due This reflects the very first symptoms of a revival in trade. The bank statement shows that the loans are still on the rising and that the banks now hold nearly $24 000 000 in excess of legal requirements. This is important, as indicating that the New York city banks are in a strong position to assist the crop and trade movements of the country this fall.

Domestic Produce.

The wheat market is unchanged in any of its aspects, though receipts at this place and other points of storage along the lines of transportation are gradually increasing, and in a fortnight more the various warehouses will contain hundreds of thousands of bushels The preparations being made to ship this product are so limited and the very prevalent disposition on the part of farmers not to sell for present prices, renders it extremely probable that but few cargoes will pass out of the river before the middle of October This is almost sure to be the case unless some now unexpected turn in the market should occur to stimulate much greater activity than anything now existing seems calculated to excite. There is nothing new in the way of prices to-day, as few transactions, mostly small lots, are noticed at our quotations. It may be well here to remark that our quotations of grain are always inclusive, of sacks Flour is still held at the figures which prevailed when wheat was 20 cents per cental higher than now, and still the margins are so small that some of our best State mills are only grinding enough to supply the local trade Oats are being offered in slightly increased quantities and prices are weaker, the demand except for home consumption being light. The new crop is reported to be turning out well, though some sections report less than an average yield Dairy products and provisions are in fair demand, and prices move actively in trade in these commodities springing up The exports have recently been very light and unimportant, but as the season progresses the demand augments, and with prices quite to the average of former years and the improved reputation of Oregon products of this character in the San Francisco and other markets ought to draw out a large exportable quantity of these products the present season The wool trade is rather falling off in volume but the market is steady Other products are in fair supply at quotations.
